COUNCIL REPORT

(JON FEREBEE)

THIS WEEKS MEETING OF THE STUDENT ASSOCIATION EXECUTIVE BROUGHT REPORTS ABOUT THE NEW CAMPUS CENTER, REPORTS RE THE REORGANIZATION OF B.C.I.T.'S FACULTIES, SUGGESTIONS TO IMPROVE THE S.A. ELECTIONS AND ADOPTION OF THE NEW MANAGER'S EMPLOYEE MANUAL. NEW BUSINESS INCLUDED A POSSIBLE FUND RAISING SCHEME TO RAISE MONEY TO SUPPORT RICK HANSEN AND FUND RAISING FOR A CAPILANO COLLEGE PROGRAM.

BUSINESS MANAGER LORNE HILDEBRANDT ANNOUNCED THERE HAS BEEN SOME TROUBLE IN FINDING ALUMNI TO HELP FUND THE NEW CAMPUS CENTER HE ADDED THERE MAY BE A CHANCE PROVINCIAL CABINET MINISTER ELWOOD VEITCH AND B.C.I.T. PRESIDENT ROY MURRAY WILL HELP APPROACH SOME ALUMNI TO HELP GET THE FUND RAISING ROLLING.

HILDEBRANDT ALSO REPORTED THINGS ARE LOOKING GOOD FOR NEXT YEAR'S BUDGET. THE BUDGET WILL BE PRESENTED TO COUNCIL ON MAY 11TH.

ALSO ON THE BUSINESS SIDE THE EXECUTIVE HAVE ACCEPTED THE NEW MANAGER'S EMPLOYEES MANUAL. THE MANUAL COVERS NEW GUIDELINES FOR PAY INCREASES, VACATION AND HOLIDAY PAY, AS WELL AS GUIDELINES FOR TERMINATION. THE MANAGERS THEMSELVES HELPED TO DRAFT THE MANUAL, WHICH HAS BEEN INSPECTED BY A LAWYER TO BE LEGAL. THE NEW MANUAL IS EFFECTIVE IMMEDIATELY.

THE RE-ORGANIZATION OF B.C.I.T.'S FACULTIES HAS NOW BEEN FINALIZED. THE FINAL CHANGES LEAVE B.C.I.T. WITH THREE FACULTIES OR SCHOOLS OF EDUCATION. THE NORTH CAMPUS STUDENTS IN THE TRADES WILL NOW FALL UNDER THE SCHOOL OF ENGINEERING. THE POLICY HAS TO BE ADOPTED AT THE NEXT MEETING OF THE BOARD OF GOVERNORS.

VICE PRESIDENT FOR ADMINISTRATION AND FINANCE EXPRESSED SOME CONCERN OVER THE NEW CONSTITUTION. WITH ONLY A FEW WEEKS LEFT IN THE PRESENT COUNCIL'S TERM THE CONSTITUTION MUST BE ADOPTED BEFORE THIS COUNCIL LEAVES. IN ORDER FOR THERE TO BE A VOTE THE REVISED DOCUMENT MUST APPEAR IN THE "LINK" FOR THREE WEEKS. THIS WILL ALLOW THE COUNCIL TO AVOID SENDING THE CONSTITUTION TO A LAWYER AND HAVING IT COME BACK AS A LARGER, MORE DIFFICULT TO UNDERSTAND DOCUMENT.

CONCERN WAS ALSO EXPRESSED DURING THE MEETING ABOUT THE NUMBER OF SPOILED BALLOTS DURING THE RECENT S.A. ELECTIONS. THERE WERE SUGGESTIONS THAT ALL MARKS ON A BALLOT BE ACCEPTED. THIS DOES NOT FIT IN WITH ELECTION REGULATIONS SO THE CONSENSUS WAS TO INFORM PEOPLE MORE SERIOUSLY IN THE FUTURE TO MARK THEIR BALLOTS WITH X'S.

COUNCIL WAS INFORMED ABOUT A COMMITTEE WHICH IS FORMING ON CAMPUS TO ORGANIZE FUND RAISING IN ORDER TO MAKE A PRESENTATION FROM B.C.I.T. IN SUPPORT OF RICK HANSEN'S MAN IN MOTION TOUR. RICK IS EXPECTED TO BE STOPPING AT BRENTWOOD MALL DURING HIS FINAL STRETCH HOME AROUND MAY 22ND. THE COMMITTEE WILL BE MEETING AT ONE O'CLOCK WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON IN THE S.A. BOARD ROOM.

FUND RAISING WAS ALSO BROUGHT UP BY VICE PRESIDENT OF STUDENT AFFAIRS, CAROL HESS. SHE HAD BEEN CONTACTED BY CAPILANO COLLEGE ABOUT A FUND RAISER THEY ARE PUTTING ON TO HELP GATHER MONEY TO SUPPORT A GIRL FROM THAT SCHOOL WHO'S HAD A SERIOUS SKI ACCIDENT LEAVING HER PARALYZED FROM THE NECK DOWN. MONEY RAISED IS BEING PUT IN A SPECIAL ACCOUNT TO HELP PAY FOR THE GIRL'S MEDICAL EXPENSES. OUR COUNCIL DECIDED TO SHOW SUPPORT FOR THE PROGRAM THROUGH ADVERTISING OF THE EVENT IN THE T.V. MONITORS IN "TAPS", LETTERS IN THE "LINK", PLUS A POSSIBLE DONATION TO THE FUND OF MONEY WHICH MAY BE RAISED THROUGH THE RICK HANSEN COMMITTEE. THE FUND RAISER WILL BE AN A DAY AT CAPILANO COLLEGE A BEER GARDEN, A BAR B QUE, DUNK TANKS, A HOT AIR BALLOON PLUS OTHER ATTRACTIONS.

Publisher's Note:

After teetering on the brink of complete and utter self-destruction for over two months, The Link's photo-typesetter finally said good bye to the world. The big blue box came to a bloody end; screaming for life but shuddering to its death just as work on this issue got underway. Thus the unusual production for this issue.

The Link intends to plant the dead typesetter in the creek behind the SAC. Hopefully it will serve to amuse passing students and resting waterfowl.

Back to normal next week, we hope.

Environment can influence our memory

Hugh Westrup

Psychological studies in the last ten years have suggested that people remember things best when they are in the place where they first learned them.

In one English study, scuba divers were read a list of words while submerged. When the divers were later asked to remember the words, they recalled more words when tested underwater than on land. (The psychologist who conducted the study remained on land and communicated with the divers via two-way radio.)

Looking at such studies, a Vancouver psychologist, Dr. Eric Eich, recently conducted an experiment to improve memory by asking people to connect what they learn with the place where they learned it.

The subjects were students at the University of British Columbia, who were each read a list of words, just as the scuba divers were. (The students were not aware they were involved in a memory test.) The environment in which the students were read the words was an office at the university.

"I gave the students explicit instructions to integrate the words with their surroundings, which was not asked in the scuba experiment," says Dr. Eich. "If I gave a student the word 'apple,' then he might form an image in his mind of the apple sitting on a bookcase in the room."

When Dr. Eich tested the students later, he found that they could recall the words better if they were in the same room. If they were tested in a different room, their memory was poor.

"It made a whopping difference if they were tested in the same room," says Dr. Eich. "Their test scores were 45 per cent better."

The result of the experiment was exactly what he expected. However, a second experiment with other students turned out differently.

Dr. Eich gave each student in the second group the same list of words that had been used in the first experiment, but did not ask them to connect the words with things in the room. He assumed that the students would nevertheless go ahead and make connections between the words and their environment, just as the scuba divers did underwater.

This turned out not to be the case. Dr. Eich found that the students did not remember the words better in the same room than in a different room.

"Memory was better only when the students were asked outright to make a connection between the words they learned and their environment," he says.

Because the second results do not jibe with the scuba experiment, Dr. Eich now questions the impact of environment on memory.

"Perhaps environment does not play as important a role in learning as we thought," he says. "Maybe what's more important is the feeling you get in an environment."

"I know that I feel very different underwater than when I'm on land," he says. "Perhaps the divers remembered more words underwater because they felt the same way there as when they learned the words. Perhaps the students in my second experiment did not feel any different moving to the other room."

Dr. Eich plans to recreate the experiment, but with a twist. Next time, he will try to create environments that put the students in a different mood. If students are given a list of words in a room with a cheerful atmosphere, they will then be tested in a room with a depressing feel.

"Perhaps the students will remember the words better when tested in the room that gives them a good feeling," he says.

Dr. Eich says this idea fits in with other studies which show that memory is affected by mood-altering drugs—alcohol, marijuana, barbiturates. These studies have shown that when people learn under the influence of a drug, they remember the material better when put back on the drug than when sober.

Dr. Eich's research was funded by the Natural Sciences and Engineering Research Council.

Resume Writing

The resume is designed to get you an interview with a prospective employer. The style of your resume is a personal decision and should reflect your individual skills and areas of effectiveness. Be flexible in your format.

Most resumes are up to three pages in length and look most effective when done on a word processor. Coloured paper is acceptable, but good white or buff coloured bond gives a very professional impression.

The following format has proven to be popular with employers and is versatile enough to be useful in a wide range of industries.

PERSONAL INFORMATION

This information may be centred at the top of the first page. It includes your name, complete address, telephone number and message number.

Do not include your birthdate, height, weight or health unless it is a requirement of the industry you work in or unless you have a health problem that could affect your employability. Also, it is no longer advisable to include your social insurance number on your resume, for reasons of privacy.

CAREER OBJECTIVE

This statement should not be longer than three sentences. It should explain the job you want and/or the kind of company you want to work for. It may also include a statement about your best qualifications for the job you want as well as a statement about any other special skills, abilities or attitudes that will bring you the job.

Employers have stated that this is the most important part of the resume.

EDUCATION

Start with your most recent educational accomplishment first. Do not undersell your education. BCIT should be written out in full and describe your diploma as a 'National Diploma of Technology'. Also, list a few of the major courses included in your two year course at BCIT. A copy of your transcript of marks may also be attached to your resume. You may also include a category for 'special courses, projects or awards'.

It is imperative that all the information for a particular marketing page remain on one page and that any additional information, particularly Employment History, start on a new page.

EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

This category is the one that varies the most in resume design. You may choose any format that best accentuates the skills and experience you have acquired in the labour force. However, remember to highlight the occupation you held rather than the name of the employer or the dates you worked.

Include a brief description of your job duties and note any transferable skills acquired (e.g. analyzing, organizing, public speaking, persuading, writing, etc.)

Do not discuss reasons for leaving or salary earned. The resume is not intended to answer every question the employer may have.

HOBBIES, ACTIVITIES AND AFFILIATIONS

This category gives you a chance to give a potential employer some insight into your character and personality. You may include clubs or professional associations, campus activities, volunteer work, hobbies and sports.

REFERENCES

Excellent references supplied upon request.' Do not include references unless you are sending a resume at the request of an employer. This procedure will preserve the confidentiality of the people you use as references as well as allow you to change your references for a particular employer.

If you are invited to an interview, bring a list of references at that time. Remember, before listing a reference in your resume, you need permission from that person.

RESUME REMINDERS

Check spelling and grammar. Have your resume professionally typed or done on a word processor. Use good bond paper. Check your references.

COVERING LETTER

Mail your covering letter and resumes to a particular person. Your company research will reveal who is responsible for hiring in a particular company.

The letter should include such things as the position you are applying for and/or your career objective; the reason you are seeking employment with this company or industry; a knowledge of the organization you are making application to and; availability for interviews.
