News from the business society

Throughout the summer we have been in contact with several off campus organizations. Many ideas have been discussed such as student attendance at association meetings and conventions student executive seminars student nights and guest speakers.

To date we are corresponding with twenty associations and expect to hear from more when their executives become more active this term. The majority of these associations have never (until now!) been approached by a student body. They appear flattered by the interest we have shown and are eager to jointly co-ordinate activities of mutual benefit. THE POTENTIAL IS ENDLESS!!

The Canadian Institute of Management (which operates extensively with BCIT night school students) have offered the day students a yearly membership for $10.00 which includes the chapter newsletter participation in all CIM sponsored events and activities representation at the annual general meeting and a subscription to Canadian Manager.

We will be sending four Hotel/Motel students to represent BCIT at the B.C. Motels Resorts & Trailer Parks Association Annual Convention in Oct.

The next Employer's Council of B.C. Industrial Relations Forum will be on December 20, 1976. The forum will feature three speakers: one from industry government and labour to discuss current problems.

The Advertising Agency Association of B.C. is interested in holding a student seminar this term and The Institute of Real Estate Management will assist in co-ordinating a seminar for next term.

Tomorrow will be as usual

As for the October 14th Day of National Protest the news is no news. Except that you should probably start for school about one half hour earlier that morn-

Pissed-up students end Wednesday beer lunch

Some of you may have noticed that beer is no longer sold in the SAC building on Wed lunch times. To those who haven't well now you know.

The reason for this stems from some of the results experienced last year by both students and teachers. To put it mildly some students spent the entire 3 hours boozing and then turned up at classes pissed out of their tree. Of course this applied to only a small minority of students.

But wait! This is not Prohibition. To compensate for this the Beergarden is now open. After work where you can have a few brew and relax without having to worry about having to crawl back to classes.

Incidentally this new situation means more revenue derived from beer sales goes to the Student Association.

Staff/teacher evaluation

No change since '72

Staff evaluation is rearing its ugly head again this year.

Sources say that the Staff Society is completely against any kind of Staff Evaluation Committee (the pasture here is pretty green).

Can you imagine going out into the world and getting a job and stipulating once hired that your boss or your customers couldn't evaluate your performance? You would expect them to pay you and keep the perks rolling in but they couldn't have any say about whether you were doing a good job or not. Nice eh?

With these thoughts in mind we dug through the LINK files to a date in the dim past. February 23, 1972 when the following article appeared. From all appearances nothing has changed.

The article was headlined In competence at BCIT.

The instructional staff at the institute has an important role to play in the overall preparation of the institute's graduates. It is essential that opportunities be provided to the instructional staff for continuous or frequent professional development.

This was taken from the Academic Standards Committee report dated June 28, 1971. The part of the report goes on to emphasize how important it is for these instructors to keep abreast of new developments in their respective fields in order to meet his commitments as an instructor. Unfortunately the Committee does not concern itself with instructors who were unqualified when they began teaching at BCIT and have avoided all opportunities to improve their instructional abilities.

The LINK has interviewed as many students as possible in an attempt to discover if the students at BCIT are dissatisfied with their instructors and if so what should be done about the situation. We do not wish to imply that the general teaching level of BCIT is particularly low or that all the teachers that we say are bad should be fired but we hope that some constructive ideas may be obtained as a result of our inquiries.

This is what the students say.
 A 2nd year business student:
 I would like to find out how I can communicate to the Academic Standards Committee. This committee as I see it is the one which can make changes in the quality and control of teaching staff. If a whole technology feels the same about a certain instructor then this should be brought out and investigated. As far as I'm concerned an anti-calendar is useless. A Petition from a whole technology would be valid then action could be taken and hopefully a solution for the better.

A 2nd year Health student:
 They know their work but they don't know how to present it. We have one bright teacher that can't understand the problems of a normal student. Some instructors know their work by experience and they teach the practical side only. Sometimes the way they present material is confusing. Most of the class does not catch what is being taught. Often students are at fault because they are afraid to ask questions.

A 2nd year business student:
 We have one uneducated teacher 100 percent of the class feels this way. His course is a waste of time.

A 2nd year health student:
 One instructor has been given a course which he knows nothing about. In one course this instructor is great — in another he says very little, he jokes around etc. Poor guy — he's probably headed for a nervous breakdown before the end of the term.

A 2nd year engineering student:
 Instructors are fantastic but a certain department head does not have office hours. People can never find him. Some instructors are great — they may not know the answer but they'll certainly find out for you. Apparently some weed(s) have been eradicated in previous years.

A 1st year engineering student:
 One instructor talks in a monotone. He always writes things on the board and crosses them out. He just stands there and reads from his notes. First class students are dropping out. They can't take this place any more. I might go to UBC for music next year. I can't take the attitude of this place. Part of it may be that I'm lazy but I'm not being challenged here.

Course content is poor. They're digressing on non relevant subjects to kill time and it's a hell of a waste of time. There is obvious friction between good teachers and department heads. There's a lot of good stuff too but it's hard to find.

A 2nd year engineering student:

No incompetent instructors as such but there are some that don't know how to teach. Some labs are a lot of bullshit. In some lectures material is not relevant material. Some small points are really labored. In one course we receive reams of notes. The teacher discusses them at the same time thus we don't benefit from the discussion but we have lots of notes. This time could be better spent — in class writing assignments perhaps.

These opinions leave us with

Letters, opinions & other ravings

'... way back in '67...'

Here is one of my rare letters to the editor.

I'd like to congratulate you on the first two issues of the LINK; content and presentation make it a very readable insight into BCIT's life.

Which brings me to my reason for writing: The last issue put me in a temporary state of shock. All of a sudden I was back in '67 when having Frosh Queens and B.M.O.C.'s went right along with ties, short hair and BCIT's generally slightly-out-of-touch image and life style. Here we are (1976), just a short while after International Women's Year and with such issues as Equal Rights, Sexism, Chauvinism being widely regarded as essential and meaningful. In the midst of it BCIT's S.A. proudly presents a beauty contest for and by the people that will make up tomorrow's technologists in business and industry. What bothers me about this show is the perpetuation of two nations that should have no place on the BCIT campus: 1. that women are to be crowned for being pretty and smiling(*) and 2. that men take delight (and time & energy) to support such an event.

For someone on the 'outside' the event appears archaic and does not do the status of men and women attending (and eventually 'coming from') BCIT any good. (*) asking them to display their intelligence etc. does not change the essential beauty-contest nature of the contest!

All good things must come to an end

Dear Abby:

Earlier this year during locker allocation a few male members were delighted to find out the ladies washroom was located directly at the end of our cozy locker hall.

We couldn't have asked for a nicer location.

Well all good things have to come to an end and so they did, but without justified reason.

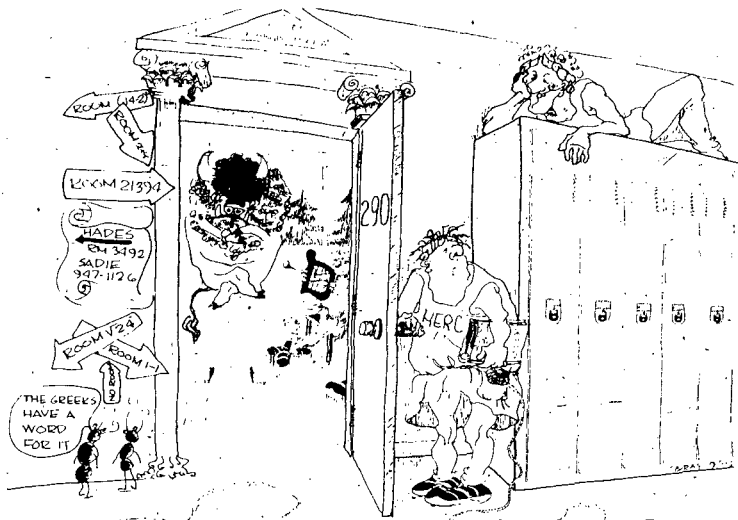

We were assigned new lockers that are totally out of the way as far as our lab classrooms go. This has caused a minor but noticeable disruption, and besides that is an uncalled for hassle!

The female students (we were told) were complaining about... "PEEPING TOMS"? I rather doubt that this is a justified complaint due to the fact that these peeping Toms are fictional characters of their imagination. Now of course they were probably addressed as they made their way to the biffy, but always politely as I heard it. After all what male who has reached puberty would not say hello to a lady as she passes by. I thought the student council stresses that the students meet each other.

The only possible complaint that we see as legitimate is that they must exercise their vocal chords every now and again in order to say "Excuse me please."

We realize that the strain involved depends mainly on the number of trips made per day, but we don't feel that it promotes enough justice to ask us to move to the other end of the school!

We rest our case.
P.S. Any rebuttal will be acknowledged.

New dance policy

Due to the restriction on the amount of people that can be accommodated at the functions held in the S.A.C. building, in future some of the dances will be admissible on a 'presold' basis only. This new policy would apply to big events, like for example, the upcoming Beerfest.

Tickets for the Beerfest and other biggies will be available in the Student Association office or the T.N.T. shops.

Starting in November all S.A. sponsored pubs on a Friday night will require tickets that must be obtained in advance.

Normally, in the past people have just turned up at pubs and dances expecting to be let in. In future please check before-hand.

Meditation meeting

A meeting for all BCIT students who are practicing or who have participated in the Transcendental Meditation Program, will be held in Room 222 Friday Oct. 16 at 12:30. This meeting will discuss the possibility of weekly meetings, group meditation and checkings.

Cable for everyone but us

Isn't it interesting that in a high-technology school like BCIT, the Student Association can't even arrange to get a cable run over from the Main Buildings to improve reception on our TVs. They have cablevision in the staff watering holes, so why can't we get it here?

Ann Loss, Woody Forrieter and Dale Baglo, assisted by The Dog, the Good Fairy and The Dragon taped "Soundstorm" Friday afternoon. Broadcast and Communications tech tape two shows per week up in their fourth floor studio. Robert Owen photos.

Review board needed?

the impression that something is definitely needed in order to maintain the "very high quality" students that BCIT turns out, because how can we continue to have high quality students with unqualified or even incompetent instructors? We cannot.

The LINK wishes to propose something along the lines of a Review Board for instructors. This Board could consist of "established" members of the staff and possibly Alumni (although that's sort of like beating a dead horse) or student representation. The duties of the Board would be quite simple — they would review new instructors after an established amount of time, to determine whether they were actually carrying out their duties as an instructor or merely occupying space at BCIT. In the event that many complaints concerning any one of our present "established" instructors are received, I am certain that a Review Board could give an impartial decision concerning the performance of the person in question and act accordingly.

We realize that such a Board would probably be very difficult to set up, and many problems would be encountered from both the present staff, some of whom would probably be accused of being inept at their jobs, and the Administration, who have a tendency to resist any and all change, but I am sure that progressive staff members who realize that this Review Board would help to maintain the high standards of instructor qualification that is necessary for BCIT staff members — they would support this measure wholeheartedly. A Review Board would give the students of BCIT an indirect influence in deciding who is going to pass or fail them this term.

(Interested? Stay tune for further developments....)

Business types burning the midnight oil

The Young President's Association is 'EXTREMELY' interested in setting up a "college panel" within the next few weeks.

These are just a few activities that will be happening this year. Students have already attended several outside meetings and we are burning the midnight oil to organize a zillion other things.

For information on upcoming events refer to the Link or check the notice board outside the Societies office.

If you are interested in helping out or have an idea that will really shake up the campus, discuss the possibilities with your technology representative or Lianne in the Societies Office.

Where your activity fee goes

The Student Association has over the years become involved in many areas of service to students that bring in revenue which offset the costs of providing the service. The Student Activity fee of $35.00 is only part of the monies handled by the S.A. treasurer.

Financial figures are never easy to understand as they can be interpreted in so many ways.

Perhaps the best way to look at the S.A. operation is to look at the budget for 1976-77. A summary is printed below outlining our income areas followed by our expenditures. The budget is drawn up and passed by the outgoing student association executive in May of each year. After a year in office, this is their advice to the incoming student executives as to how the finances should be handled in the next year. There are usually minor changes occurring in each year but history has shown the advice given by the outgoing executive is usually adhered to in the next term.

Explanations of any part of this schedule will gladly be given by the treasurer or the business manager.

Your student executive has full financial control over all finances shown below. Cheques are signed by the executive and the final results are always audited in proper fashion. Copies of the 1975-76 audit are available from the business manager. P. Henderson, business manager, Student Association.

Mr. Mike's 5000 Kingsway Plaza 438 1144 or 7 6th St. New Westminster 524 3515

The slogan probably the best is just about right for describing Mr. Mike's. After all, it's said and done, there is no other place where you can get a steak dinner for $2.99. Is there? The atmosphere is definitely unique with nostalgic pictures brightening the walls and beautiful mahogany tables. The service is minimal — you place your order and pick it up — except for the waitress (not bad looking either) who will appear to take away your tray. Oh, she'll bring you drinks from the bar too. Eating here is something you'll definitely enjoy without putting a big hole in your pocketbook.

White Spot Good news every body — White Spot has dropped the price of a hamburger (any type) by 15 whole cents. It's still a bit expensive but the hamburger is legendary. Another great thing about White Spot is that (last I heard) they use real fresh potatoes for french fries, not weirdo frozen kinds. If the best things in life are free, the Shrimp Salad runs a close second ($3.50). Another thing you can do while you're there is pick up a CFUN sticker and put it on the back window of your car for a chance at $1,000 or several $100 prizes. Oh, yeah, and it's less expensive if you eat it in the car.

Curlers to play Sundays

CURLING: a meeting was held and the consensus was that teams would prefer the ice time available Sundays 2:15 to 4:15 pm at the MacPherson Curling Club at 7325 MacPherson Avenue in Burnaby. The fee for each session per person is $3.00, with the following dates set for our four sheets. October 17-24-31.

November 7-14-21
December 5
January 9-16-23-30
February 6-13-20-27

March 13-20-27

December 5 was tentatively set as a session out of schedule to select the Cougar Curling Team — 1 men's, 1 women's and 1 mixed team. Who would represent BCIT at Totem Conference Championships — this leaves BCIT student teams playing in other leagues the opportunity to qualify for this event.

A meeting will be held prior to the first session at 1:45 pm on October 17 at MacPherson Rink.

This will be to form a club with President, Secretary and Treasurer. This session will establish rules of play of which payment of fees for 17 sessions must be paid. Fifty percent by October 31 and Balance by January 16.

The October 17 session is not a league game. Players and teams will be set up. If you don't have a team we'll have one for you. Come out, guys and gals and have fun! If you like people you must like curling!

Scintillating action on the murderous all-weather field during intramural flag football action last Wednesday.

Survey B over Med Lab II 3-0

Clean up your acts

It has come to the attention of the Student Association, through complaints from the SAC's janitors, that a fantastic amount of garbage is being left on the floors in the building.

Garbage — like old lunch bags, cigarette butts crushed on the floor, paper tossed casually away.

There are garbage cans all over the place — use them, or face the fact that an increasing proportion of your fees will have to go toward janitorial maintenance. Which means less money for activities.

Malaspina at BCIT Sun. 31 Oct.

COUGARS VOLLEYBALL WOMEN'S

Monday, October 4th was a good day for BCIT Volleyball. An excellent turnout of approximately 20 women, many of them being of top calibre, were in the gym for our first practice. We will be practicing every Monday and Wednesday from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. until mid March. Come out and see if you can help the team. Any further information can be obtained from: Athletic Dept. BCIT, phone 434-5734 Local 612 or Gary Shellborn phone 987-2863.

X-CTY - Tony is preping the team for the James Cunningham Memorial Seawall Race on Sat. 6 November.

HOCKEY - looks like Oct. 16 will be a lot people what we've put together. At 4 rinks on the blue rink at 6:05 p.m. Cougars try out the S.F.U. clansmen. This should be a Slam-Bang Game — no admission - just come out! The green machine (cougars) will be flying.

BADMINTON - Thursdays are badminton nite from 7-10 p.m. in our gym. A coach will be found but till then come out and have fun. Good players and beginners. Matches are easily made. Just ask someone to play! From these fun nites we select a rep team who play at local college playdays and represent at Totem Conference Championships in Feb. If you win there you advance to 4 west Championships at Saskatoon in March. We have a budget for these events so it wouldn't cost you anything to win!
