11 Groups

Submit Proposals

GARY INGERSOLL

Proposals are now being considered by Victoria to set up a Board of Governors for BCIT that would control the distribution of school finances. In lieu of the present system, in which money is meted out separately by the government, a single sum would be allotted annually for distribution by the board to departments, in proportion to their needs. This would include staff salaries, library expenses, and purchases of equipments, to name a few. Altogether eleven groups at BCIT have submitted proposals. The best features to incorporate in the system will be decided by a Task Force which will be comprised of members of the Advisory Council, Administration, Staff Society, Student Association and Alumni.

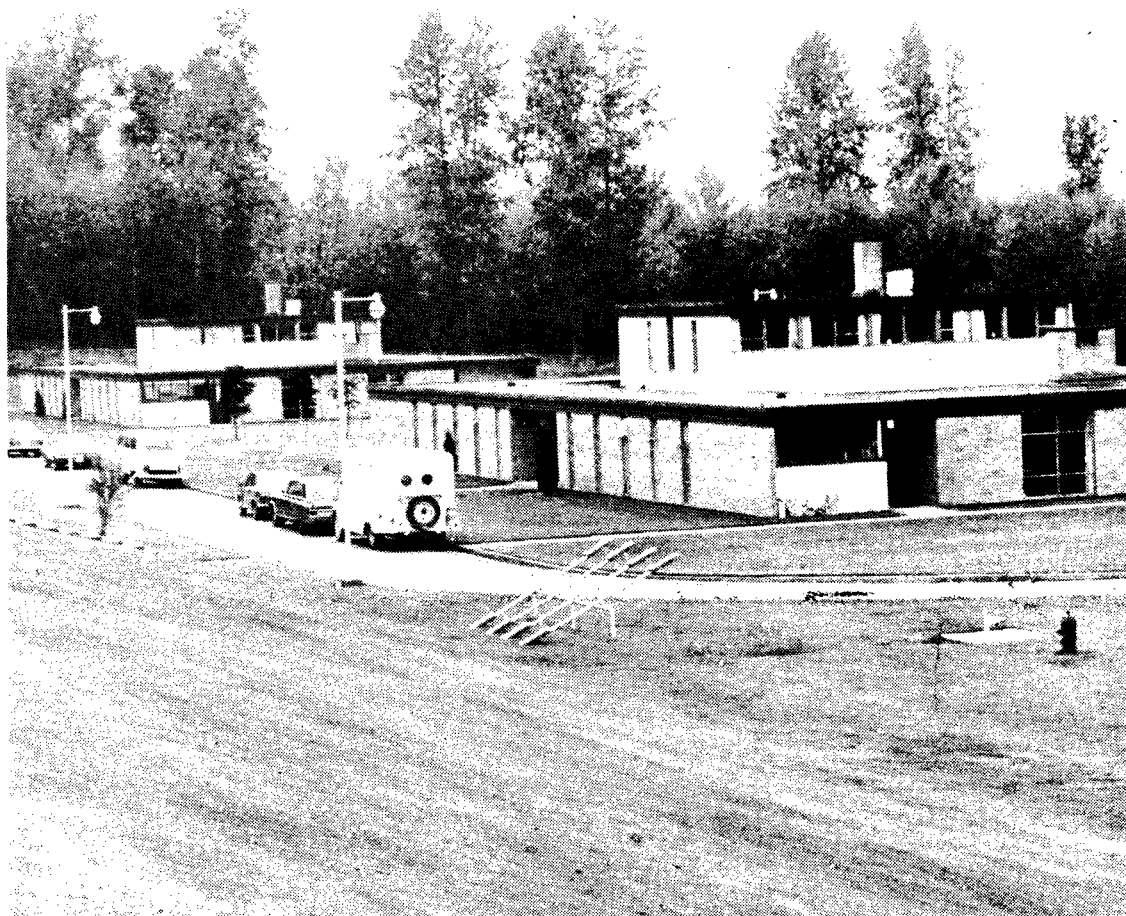

A similar system, on a far larger scale, has been in practice at U.B.C. for some time. The Board would have control of all school departments, with the exception of the Student Association, which is autonomous, and will remain so, as its funds come directly from student fees. The Board of Governors will be advantageous in that funds will be more readily available for all inter-campus budgeting. Although it remains to be confirmed, likelihood of the adoption of this system is thought to be favorable. Membership on the Board will be entirely independent of be decided by the school, and aside from the annual allotment, will be entirely independent of Victoria. It is hoped that the system will be in operation by the spring.

Georgia Strait Hits BCIT Campus

Complications arose last Friday when a man promoting the Georgia Strait, a local publication, appeared on campus with 2000 copies of that paper for free distribution to students. Although told that permission must come from Council, 50 copies were passed around before he was asked to leave. Later, a phone call was received by Student Association President Graham Fane from a person apparently representing the Strait, allegedly accusing him of "censorship, policing people's minds, and suppression of freedom of speech". The school constitution was then produced, and excerpts were read to the caller, stating, briefly, that no publications

Lots Of Happy Girls

Notice Scares People

Some notices were put up last Thursday regarding a meeting Monday at noon to discuss women's grievances on campus. Only two women, both already active in women's rights, showed up. Granted, the wording of the notice was inflammatory, "Women's Libbish", but I assumed that this was the only way to get people's attention. Maybe, instead it scared people off. Maybe the notices were not displayed for long enough. A lot of them were put in women's washrooms, as this seemed a logical place to reach a female audience, and maybe this was a mistake. Anyway, no-show!

But there must be some complaints drifting around the school. Let's start again - not a "Women's Lib" meeting, but just getting together, maybe organizing some discussion groups. Health Students, in traditionally female occupations, trying to gain a higher place in the medical pecking order, and Business and Engineering Students, breaking into traditionally male fields, have a lot of experience to exchange.

Only by learning about ourselves can we improve our relations with others - husbands, boy friends, employers. If you are interested in getting together with other women, I'm ready to co-ordinate it. Contact me in the Student Association offices any lunch hour.

Victoria Coughs Up

$15,000

Student services at BCIT were given a financial boost last week when word came from Education Minister Eileen Dailly that BCIT student services will be given a cheque for $15,000.

The money came as a result of constant telephone calls and night letters from BCIT student council president Garham Fane during the summer and September.

At present no definite decision or figures have been given on how the money will be spent, but it is certain that some portion will be used for an extramural program for BCIT.

Rah Rah Rah

"Rah, Rah, Rah"; You can almost hear the voices of 'pom-pom' girls echoing in our sterile hallways. Welcome to B.C.I.T., the pseudo-American college of the '50's.

1958 has been a damned good year so far, but I can't help feeling that something is missing in my campus social life. Granted, we have Frosh Queen and Campus Queen, where the ideal college women of 1958 are chosen, mentally raped by the future fathers of industry and displayed like sides of beef in a meat market window. Granted, we choose "Best Man on Campus", (success story image), whose picture is seduced in bed each night by lovesick co-eds. But, is that all there is to American college life?

It's my personal opinion that we start inter-technology primer contests, where we can all put our Chevies on display, and the best primer job can win a free burger and shake at the local drive-in. Maybe we need soc-hops at noon where we can all get a chance to play our favorite '45s.

What did you say? What? You mean its 1973? Impossible! Don't give me that bull-shit man. You think we're stupid out here at the institute....we know what year it is. We're here to get an education so we can get all those new jobs coming up in '59 and '60....Unemployment problem? Don't give me that commie stuff man, if you know what's good for you. You know, I was feeling pretty keen till you walked in here....What this you're talken about now? Environmental problem? Oil spills? Hey, you better check out the facts before you go shootin your mouth off. We use that natural gas stuff from B.C. Electric; you won't find any oil around here! What? Proverty and Charity? That's the last straw, man... I mean if you can't work and help yourself out man, you're better off dead. We showed 'em a couple of weeks ago with that Shinerama crap. Most of us are busy out here getting our education so we can get a job.... and we don't need guys like you around. And by the way, if I see you around campus again, you'd better be wearing your points.

Lack Of Female Facilities At B.C.I.T.

Dear Sir:

Just as a matter of interest to students I would like to comment on a notice posted in the SAC lobby which informs female students of BCIT that there are not girls change rooms or shower facilities in residence for those wishing to use the pool facilities.

It was brought to the attention of Executive members that girls are, to a certain extent ignored at BCIT, for instance a student wishing to use the lobby of SAC has no alternative but to play pool, air hockey or the pinball machines.

The comment about the lack of female facilities at the residence may seem a petty one, but I am sure that you will find that there is minimal use of the facility by female students partly due to this problem.

Maybe the fact should be Elaine McMurtrie taken into consideration and a nearby room converted into a change room, at least it would be better than waiting around for someone in residence to ask them permission to use their room.

A study is being done by VP External Kathy McTaggart on female students on campus and their activities - if you have any interest in the subject - contact her in the student Association office in SAC.

Meet Bob Harper, Your V.P. Internal

My job as V.P. is hard to define. The Sports Coordinator, for example, looks after Sports; the Publications chairman concerns herself with publications; the V.P. Internal must cover a broad spectrum of activities. One of the major areas in which I spend my time is as a liaison between the administration and the student body. This liaison includes timetabling, conflicts and problems, problems with the food services, parking, as well as many problems that develop during the course of the year.

Within the Student's Association, one function of mine is to act as a parliamentarian. All that means is that I must decide and advise on the legality of any meeting. The staff within the SAC come under my jurisdiction. Most important, I am to serve you. Please feel free to stop me any time.

STUDENT LOANS

This is a plan introduced by the Federal Government to assist students who, without loan assistance, would be unable to pursue full-time post-secondary studies at a specified educational institution. The maximum loan for an academic year is $1,400. Total loans to any student cannot exceed $9,800. A loan of up to $700 may be authorized for a single semester which is part of a longer programme of study. Borrowers under the plan are required to repay principal and interest by regular monthly instalments. Payments commence six months after the borrower ceases to be a full-time student at a specified educational institution. No payments are made while the borrower is a full-time student nor for six months thereafter. Interest during this period is paid by the Federal Government on behalf of the student. Need for loan assistance is determined by Provincial Loan Authorities in accordance with administrative criteria established for use throughout Canada. A parental contribution table is an integral part of the criteria and is applied in all cases where the student has not established financial independence as defined in The Canada Student Loans Plan. When the application is completed it must be submitted to the Financial Aid Officer of the British Columbia educational institution to be attended. Students planning to attend institutions outside British Columbia will send applications directly to Student Affairs Branch, Division of Post-secondary Services, Department of Education, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C.

What Happened To Bert?

Robert Palk

Most students at B.C.I.T. should have noticed men in uniforms. These men are a part of the Corps of Commissioners. We would like to bring to your attention one such commissioner, Bert Cameron.

Last year Bert Cameron held the rank of acting Chief Commissioner. He became ill and during his absence this rank was removed from him. On Bert's return to the institute the rank of acting Chief Commissioner was not returned to him or given to any other Commissioner. This is an infringement of the Commissioners code. In the code it states that if there are two or more Commissioners on active duty then one of them will be put in charge. The code also says that this position will be given to the man who has seniority or to the man who is most suited for the job.

On the day shift Bert is the man who has seniority and in our opinion he is the man who is most suited for the job. In the past Bert has helped the students and instructors out when ever possible.

We think that it is our turn to help Bert. Help us out by signing the petitions we have out in the halls. You can find them by just looking for a picture of Bert.

The Business Society : A Self Appraisal

We're NOT A Social Club

The Business Society is not a social club for students, it is a vital link in the chain of student government at BCIT.

The easiest comparison I can make is that the Executive Council is the Federal Government, while the Division Councils are Provincial. The Business Society and its division council consisting of one member from 1st and 2nd year from each of the seven business tech's is the link between the students body and the executives. We have three representatives on the executive in the SAC. Then it will either be dealt with immediately or at a division council. If it affects the students at large, it will then be represented at executive council. tive council, and through them we represent 1/3 of the entire student population.

If you want something done, tell your technology rep, or come to the Societies office

Our job is to COMMUNICATE both up and down the ladder of the student structure. We need the students co-operation to be viable. Make your idea's and gripes be heard, its the only way we will know if the student as sociation is doing its job for you.

Paid Parking

Anyone wishing to reinstitute paid parking areas please check at Student Association offices.

Only One Guest Per Student

Effective immediately, only one guest per student will be admitted to student pubs and dances at time of entry.

Burnaby Art Gallery Highlights for October Wide Variety

WILLIAM KURELEK
A PRAIRIE ARTIST PAINTS
THE MOUNTAINS
OCTOBER 3 - 28.

This is a two-part exhibition. Equinex Gallery, 1139 Robson Street, Vancouver, will exhibit "My brother John" series during OCT.

William Kurelek is accepted as one of Canada's important painters of the day. In his work are seen many of his motivating forces exemplified. His deeply religious attitude, his Canadian-Ukrainian background and his sincere desire to be completely truthful in his work are clearly evident.

Of Kurelek it is said "his artistic ideal is like that of a medieval cathedral builder, ie, to return glory to God with the particular gift he has given. Kurelek relishes precise detail and paints with such keen observation, that his paintings embody the precision of a miniaturist and the exuberant vigor of Breughel."

The artist will be present at the opening of the exhibition Oct 3 at 8:00p.m. -

ART GREEN - PAINTINGS - OCT 3 - 28 - Upstairs Gallery. This artist has lived in Canada since 1969. He received his training in the U.S. His teaching experience has been in the U.S. and Canada. He taught at the Nova Scotia College of Art and Design from Art Green has exhibited widely since 1966 in Canada and the U.S.. He is represented in the National Gallery's Painters of the 60's." He has received the Cassandra Foundation Award for Painting and two Canada Council Arts Bursaries.

Green's work is bold, colourful and large. He is represented by the Phyllis Kind Gallery in Chicago, and the Galerie Darthea Spener in Hnizdovsky - ANIMAL WOODCUTS - Theatre Gallery, Oct 3 - 28. A travelling exhibition from the Winnipeg Art Gallery. Hnizdovsky is Ukrainian born. He has lived in the US. since 1949. First recognition of his graphic work came at the Minneapolis Institute of Fine Arts in 1950, and was followed by many other awards. In the past ten years he has had more than ten one man shows in Paris, London and New York, his prints and paintings are in the permanent collections of some of America's best known galleries.

Of Hnizdovsky, John Neville in the Dallas Morning News said; "Whatever his subject, landscapes, animals, trees, or florals, Hnizdovsky works with loving care and affection. His craftsmanship is superb. His use of white space is dramatic."

GREENLAND ESKIMO SCULPTURE - OCT 3 - 28

A select display of the carvings of Greenland Eskimos may also be seen at the Burnaby Art Gallery in Oct.

The work primarily represents spirits, mythological figures and spirits. These no longer hold magical power to the Eskimo, but are expressions of their folk art.

The pieces in this small exhibition are stone, ivory and The Burnaby Art Gallery are having many special events this month.

HEALTH SERVICES IS REAL

Phil Henderson gets the point !

Oh, so you aren't feeling well? Maybe that cute girl behind you has got the flue, or you've just caught your hand in the adding machine. Whatever, sooner or later almost all students have occasion to use the Health Services.

The Health Service office is located in the east wing of the student activity center, near the TNT. Staffed every school day between 8:30 and 4:30 by a smiling Mrs. Fenner, it is visited by Dr. Huckvale three times a week.

Feel a cold coming on? Shots and immunization are first in demand and are used by a by many students with contagious problems.

Fall down the stairs again? Being born clumsy doesn't mean you can't come over and get the scrape fixed up. If more attention is required you may be sent to a clinic for full medical care.

The third most prevalent problem encountered by the Health Services are skin problems such as acne and the misery of psoriasis.

Feeling blue? Work getting you down? The Health Services can help you here too.

Many students still aren't aware of the fine services that administered right here on campus. If you have a physical problem, or an emotional one, come down to see us.

Szasz On Sex

Yesterday Dr. George Szasz, Professor of Sexology came to BCIT AND offered the students his presentation of Human Sexuality.

Despite the fact that the equipment from Audio Visual was neither set up or available for use, he went ahead with his presentation.

Verbally, he attempted to explain and present an idea of the continuity of life and sexual function as a part of this cycle. He equated the positive aspects of sensuality as in the beauty and color of nature that surrounds us; the life cycle of the human being from conception, represented by tiny perfectly formed fetuses to death embodied in the symbol of a gravestone. He described life as viewed by the toddler exploring and peeking out at his environment from behind the branch of a tree. He described adolescents and the fireworks behind this initial experience with sexuality, the family and finally old people.

The negative aspects of sexuality were equated with the picture of a child with bloated stomach and starving in a country less fortunate and developed than ours, where human sexuality creates these kinds of problems.

DR. Szasz stated that sexual relations in our country are not principally directed twwards procreation of the species but as a social act and a form of communication between man and women.

From this form of relating arises problems and the kind of work he is involved in.

In his lecture Dr. Szasz was able to create hypothetical situations in which these problems arise and how they effect the sexual function and self-esteem of the individuals involved in these relationships.

Most of these problems seemed to arise out of lack of communication, a sense of dissatisfaction and as a result a further lack of communication with sexual function becoming a dominant factor.

Student Employment Perspective

Dave Evans

Have you given much thought to whether or not you will be employed after graduation? Is there a job waiting for you out there?

DIVISION	#GRADS	% EMP. SEPT. 73
BUSINESS	344	98
ENGIN-	605	97
HEALTH	287	100

These figures point out that there are jobs available for BCIT graduates. It is encouraging to note that out of the 1226 students who graduated, only 24 are not yet employed. Overall this constitutes 98% employment. Another point of interest is that the great majority of students are employed in capacities directly related to their areas of training.

Our Canada Manpower Student Employment Centre placed about 67% of last year's grads, the remainder found their own positions or were placed by their technology. The Manpower office will start recruiting people for jobs on Nov 15th (For further information contact the further information contact the Manpower office).

Employment opportunities look very good for the class of 1974, too, but I remember though the placement service is good, there is no better way to get the job you really want than to go knocking on doors.

Beer On A Cadillac Budget

In case you are unaware of recent price changes, the brew you'll be packing home from the grog shop this weekend, will cost you $3.00 per case. Two weeks ago the Liquor Board announced the price increase, but assured consumers that any old stock remaining in the stores will be sold at old prices.

On October 2 it was announced that the price of off premises sale of bottle beer in beer parlors had gone up 15¢ to $4.00 a case. The liquor board emphasized that the new price applies only to stock received after October 2.

Club Active

The following clubs are now active at BCIT. Badminton - Thursday & Sunday, 7:00 - 9:45 pm, SAC GYM; Gymnastics - Mon & Wed - 4:00, Wed Noon, Res Gym; Kong Fu - Wed Noon, RES Gym; Wrestling - Wed Noon, Mon & Thur 5:00 - 7:00pm, Res Gym; Square Dancing - Tues 7:00 - 9:00pm, Res Gym; Karate - Mon & Wed, 7:00 - 9:00pm, Res Gym; Scuba Club - Tues, 4-6(5-7) & Sat 10-2.

Residence Pool Now In Operation

The new residence across the street offers several additional features to the Willingdon campus, one of which is the pool. One minor problem is there's only one change room. Just keep your eyes closed. This will be altered shortly. Pool hours are as follows:

Sun - 2-5, 7-11
Mon - 11:30-1:30, 7-11
Tues - 11:30-1:30, 7-11
Wed - 11:30-2:00, 7-11
Thurs - 11:30-1:30, 6-9
Sat - 2-5, 7-9

Lifeguards are on duty these hours. When the programme develops, other events will be scheduled.

SO THAT'S

of any sort are to be distributed at the school without the express permission of Council. An offer to arrange sale of the Strait through normal channels, that is, the TNT Shop went without comment. Finally, the caller was told by Fane that the imposition was improper, and that if they want to do business,

"to approach in a business-like manner". Other local colleges have reported similar incidents in which the Strait was involved. Indiscriminate distribution of competitive publications could cause sponsoring clients of the Link to withdraw their accounts.

As since the only other source of revenue for the Link is the Student Association, that would mean spending more of the student's money.

MUSIC

GERRY PALMA

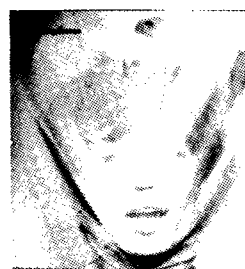

MOTT / MOTT THE HOOPLE
COLUMBIA KC32425

This is Mott the Hoople's second album and guaranteed to do things to your head. David Bowie used to play with this band and after listening to the first cut you will recognize the influence he has left on their style. Unfortunately, their first album, "ALL THE YOUNG DUDES" did not really take off as well as it should have. With all the 'gay' bands suddenly coming out of their closets at the same time, record buyers are leary to buy many of their records. True many of them are just an effort to take advantage of the sudden craze brought about by bands such as Alice Cooper and Iggy and the Stooges but both albums, "MOTT" and "ALL THE YOUNG DUDES" demonstrate a rather unique style of their own.

"MOTT" is one hell of a good rock and roll album. The best cuts are ALL THE WAY FROM MEMPHIS and HONALOOCHIE BOOGIE. Paul Buckmaster, who has done alot for the Rolling Stones and Elton John, is one of the quest artists on the album.

GOATS HEAD SOUP /
Rolling Stones
Warner Bros. COC 59101

If you liked their last one, "EXILE ON MAIN STREET", you will probably get off on this one. Although the Stones have mellowed since the days of "LET IT BLEED" or "GET YER YA YA's out", their music is just as good, if not better. This album is a combination of different talents resulting in a smooth set of songs which should appeal to both the hard rock audience and those who appreciate a little more than just straight heavy music.

All titles on the album were written by Jagger and Richards with well known musicians as Billy Preston, Nicky Hopkins, Jim HORN AND OTHERS HELPING OUT

ANGIE is one of the better songs on the album although AM radio is doing their best to destroy this by playing it every few minutes. SILVER TRAIN is a faster tune which bears the traditional style of the Stones, something along the lines of BITCH on the "STICKY FINTERS" album. My favorites on the album are two softer cuts which are good white blues rockers, COMING DOWN AGAIN and winter. Both have Nicky Hopkins on piano, who did a tremendous job on his solo album, "THE TIN MAN WAS A DREAMER." All round, "GOATS HEAD SOUP" shouldn't disappoint you!

Cheech & Chong

U.B.C. Alma Mater Society has booked Cheech and Chong for a concert in the War Memorial Gym October 20. Tickets are almost sold out for the comedy duo. and by the time of this printing they could all be gone. 4500 tickets were slated for sale, with 1500 earmarked for off-campus sales. They sell for $4.00 each to non-U.B.C. students. If there are any left for at the door sales, they will cost $5.00.

Tickets are on sale this week for the Beach Boys concert to be held in the War Memorial Gym on November 4. Tickets are available in the A.M.S. Business office at the U.B.C. Student Union Building. The Ubysey reported recently that the A.M.S. cleared $550 on the successful September 14 John Mayall concert.

The Students' Union at Ryerson Polytechnical Institute (SURPI) is a social, educational and political organization run by students for students. Its membership includes all of Ryerson's full-time students.

Back when Ryerson was basically a trade school, the student government was chiefly interested in athletic spirit, sock hops and concerts. Gradually however, Ryerson became more than a trade school and Ryerson students became concerned with more than just their diplomas. Many students began to look at their educational experience in a critical light and wanted to play an active role in shaping its future. As the Institute grew, students wanted their social activities to serve as antidotes to the alienation that often accompanies bigness.

But in 1970 when students demanded that their Unions serve them more individually, SURPI was $50,000 in debt. Most of the money had been spent on community projects not immediately effecting Ryerson students. And so a movement was started to set up students' unions in individual courses so students could have a better say in the way their money was spent.

That was three years ago; now course unions are established in every program in the Institute.

The membership of any course Union must be open to all the students in that course. Any full-time student is automatically a member of his/her course union.

This year $50,000 has been granted for course unions and clubs. Course unions present a budget to the Board of Directors of the Union detailing their plans for academic projects, special projects, social functions and printing and postage. After the Board has approved the budget, the course union can go ahead and implement their plans.

SURPI also funds clubs, such as the chess club and four cultural associations: Ryerson Afro-Caribbean Association, Hellenic society, Italian society and the Chinese Students' society.

Also, each division — Arts, Applied Arts & Community Service, and Technology has its own society, funded by SURPI, and concerned with co-ordinating projects course unions might want to co-operate on.

To handle all the accounting, co-ordination, purchasing and programming for these course unions, clubs and societies the Union has a staff of three: a business manager, a bookkeeper, and a project co-ordinator in charge of programs such as Orientation and Winter Carnival.

In addition, the Union has a research co-ordinator for its research program and course evaluation.

The Union is managed by a Board of Directors of nine students — three from each division; Arts, Applied Arts and Community Services, Business and Technology. The Directors, elected annually, decide what policies and programs are most relevant to the social and educational benefit of all the students and allocates funds to them.

The President is the chief executive officer of the union and a full-time employee. He or she is elected annually from the entire student body and is responsible for implementing the policies instituted by the Board.

Committee was comprised of members of constituent groups within the community including three students, one of whom was David Guptill, then President of SURPI. The Committee met regularly until the submission of its final recommendations on June 15, 1973.

The Ryerson Faculty Association established an Ad Hoc Committee during the same period that produced a report early in 1973. The tenor of this report was condemning Administrative expenses and called for cuts to be made in this area before any direct academic costs were touched. Events came to a focal point in March with announcement by the Administration that 48 cleaning and maintenance staff were to be released. A series of open meetings were held and the fourteenth floor of Jorgenson Hall was occupied by a group of students, faculty and workers. A number of faculty members agreed to accept salary cuts to keep these workers employed and both the R.F.A. and SURPI voted financial aid for the occupiers.

The demands were simple and the general feeling of the campus was that they were just. In slogan form it was "Stop the Firings; Open the Books". The layoffs were not rescinded despite the month-long occupation, but the books, a twenty-five page review of expenditures for 1972-73 and projections for 1973-74 were released.

Times of crisis tend to cause a great deal of introspection, and in the case of a public Institution, external criticism. Such has been the case for Ryerson over the past few months, extending back as early as Autumn 1972. At that time, it became apparent that the Institute would probably be in a deficit situation by the end of the year. An anticipated enrolment of 7,800 students had not materialized and the actual number of students was only 7,076 on the first of December.

The importance of that drop in enrolment is that public funds are made available to the Institute from the Government on a per capita basis. The Institute's budget had been calculated on the anticipated increase and extra staff had been hired to accommodate the extra students. Other factors including an arbitrated raise in faculty salaries and an unsatisfactory grant formula.

Although the situation has been termed as a 'financial crisis,' its implications strike the very nature and philosophical base of the Institute itself. While dollars are a convenient measurement of Ryerson's problems, the long-term effects will be in the educational quality of its programmes. If the demand for economy is met with creative and imaginative solutions, the ultimate effect may be beneficial; if, on the contrary, solutions are shortsighted and the products of overaction, they will only be detrimental to our future.

The Students' Union has played an increasingly active role in analyzing and recommending new directions for the Institute. In late Autumn of 1972, the President, Mr. D. L. Mordell, established an advisory body, the Priorities Committee, to review the financial, physical and human resources of Ryerson. This

The Students' Union established a sub-committee on Priorities and Philosophy to study the books in detail and formulate policy recommendations for the Institute. On May 3, SURPI released a preliminary document to the Government's Committee on University Affairs. This paper was a general critique of the formula system of public aid to the Institute. Essentially, it was a plea for a review of the system that would hopefully realize extra funding based on the premise that Ryerson was being treated unfairly in relation to Universities and, in some cases, the Community Colleges.

The report was well received both internally and in Government circles. The Committee on Universities consequently set up a sub-committee to review the situation. And although all concerned are pessimistic about obtaining hard results, this move is encouraging and now is being pursued.

On June 15, the Union released a more detailed and comprehensive report to the Ryerson community and Public-at-large entitled, War and Peace. A sixty-seven page document, the report's stated purpose was... "an investigation of the financial status, administrative practice and Academic structure of Ryerson Polytechnical Institute." Included is six pages of wide-ranging recommendations aimed, not only at financial matters, but also the preservation of academic quality.

This report was also well received. Although its recommendations will not be, dealt with immediately, it has already indirectly affected certain internal decisions.

Major changes have been planned for the Institute. The most important of these is the reduction of the number of faculty members to 446 from 489 by September, 1973 and a further target decrease to 415 (based on 7,000 students) by April 1974. To complement this, a formula system that covers faculty establishment, department by department, is being developed.

The activities of The Union are only just beginning. To the present time, most discussions and policies have been formulated with little input from the large majority of students. This practice must end and it is hoped that the students of each Course Union will accept the challenge to closely analyze and develop policy with respect to their own programmes. It is also necessary to have closer lines of contact with student representatives on Departmental and Academic Council. In this manner, students will have the ability to forward powerful, imaginative and intelligent proposals for the future development of the Institute.

Wrestling Team

Beginners Welcome

B.C.I.T. has been placed in the unique position of having three martial arts clubs that a student can join. The B.C.I.T. Wrestling Team was formed early this year, and is looking forward to an active season.

Practices are informal, with instruction given by the team members. Emphasis is placed on wrestling techniques and on fitness exercises.

As the season progresses, there will be a number of dual meets, and tournaments held. There is also the possibility of a tour to Alberta or to the States.

The team meets three times a week in the Student Residence Gym. The times are 5:30 on Mondays and Thursdays, and 12:30 on Wednesdays. In addition there is a meeting on Tuesday, October 16, in room 272 at 11:30.

There is no charge to join the team. Beginners are welcome - any weight. If you have wrestled before and want to make a comeback or if you want to lose some weight and have some fun, why not come out?

HOWIE ZOWIE

CAT SHIT

Greetings from the ghetto! I think today we'll dwell on the B.C.I.T. product.

First my preamble:

My human has never spent alot of time at home and when he took on the responsibility of catering to me he neglected to consider the implications of that. Right from the start I made it damn clear that I wanted to come and go as I pleased. If he left me couped up inside for too long I would tear up paper, knock things off shelves, shit on his bed and just generally screw things up while he was gone. Well, his first attempt to solve this problem consisted of swearing at me, kicking me, bouncing me off the walls, launching me out the door and/or rubbing my face in my own shit. In other words he used the wrong approach.

Luckily, we moved and the new residence had a hole in the corner of the door. I could now come and go as I pleased. I stopped fucking up and so did he. Everything was cool.

We then moved to where we are now. As my human slid down the residence scale so did I. He punched a hole in the door and everything was cool. But the cats in the ghetto are hungry and there are alot of them. It didn't take long for my new-found friends to find out there was usually something in my bowl to eat. Now I don't mind sharing my crunchies with others less fortunate than myself, in fact I met some really neat pussies that way. But my human soon caught on to our system. He decided he was spending too much money on crunchies. To combat this he tries to catch as many of my friends as he can, in the act. If he can get his hands on them he performs those same acts of terror on them as he did on me. (He's also into throwing rocks at them as they leave)

What I'm getting at is that he designed a subsystem (the Howie Hole) to solve one problem and by neglecting other related subsystems (the cat culture of the district) he got a result that he neither counted on nor wanted. (If he had consulted me he might have worked out a successful solution. However that doesn't pertain to our topic.)

Now dear readers, how does this relate to you? Due to the structure of B.C.I.T. you are relatively rigidly moulded in one system of problem solving. As graduates you could therefore solve some problem or set of problems in one subsystem that works very well. However, that solution could screw up the overall system to such an extent that it won't work anymore. A few examples:

One group of specialists (Marketing Managers) have managed to completely sell the automobile to the North American consumer. A complete success from their point of view - automobile manufacturing is extremely profitable. Their measure is dollars made in the industry. But what about traffic jams, air pollution and the vast areas of valuable land devoted to the automobile? Totally unprofitable! Another group of specialists (highway engineers) tried to solve one of these problems (traffic jams) by designing and building freeways. These efforts did succeed in the limited way they approached the problem. X number of cars were moved in and out of the city efficiently. However these specialists didn't anticipate urban sprawl. The freeways made outlying land attractive to the city residents who moved out along the freeway route - more traffic was generated. So try the L.A. Freeways at rushhour!

So you say what can I possibly do? You can devote less time to the 'nose to the grindstone' theory and make it your own personal responsibility to see past the trips laid on you here. (Oh but my grades!...My scholarship! What will Mom and Dad say? What about my future with Imperial Oil?.....

Graduating from BCIT this Spring Looking for a job?

Try American Empire.

Like this young man...

When Pierre graduated with his B.A. from Jean de Brebeuf College in 1940, he was a confused young man like most of you. He had great ambitions. American Empire persuaded him to further his education. He received his law degree at Université de Montreal and was called to the bar in 1943. But Pierre, like most young men had an interest in why things are the way they are, so we obliged him. He came down to Harvard where he received his M.A. in political economy in 1945. But he was on to even better things: Ecole de Sciences Politiques in Paris and London School of Economics. We could see he was a young man with promise.

He was a young man out to change things, clear away the musty cobwebs. When he joined the Privy Council in 1949 as an economist and political advisor, we knew we had a real mover on our hands. When he challenged the conservative and crusty regime of Maurice Duplessis in Cite Libre, we knew he was our man.

We like our clients to be happy. Our young men are working hard at changing conditions. Pierre showed he had the drive, the intelligence and the charm to do the job so we made him our chief agent in Canada, the position he now holds.
